THE BOSTGEN GHOST.

An Apparition That Caused Fear and Business Ruin

With Eyes of Fire, Glimly White Face It Played Midnight Pranks—Singular Death of Some of the Neighbors.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Mrs. Elizabeth Bostgen had a saloon on East Kinzie street, and recently its stock and fixtures were sold and the place closed. She one day, highly excited and with hair disheveled and dress disordered, told a neighbor of the experience she had with a ghost, ever since she came to the house in March last. The relator is a woman of very nervous temperament, and the apparition she claims was in the form of a man coming into her room every night, waiting about for a few minutes and then leaving. She said "I tried to talk to him several times, but he would not answer me, but just kept on walking up and down my room, looking at me all the time with eyes that resembled balls of fire, they were so bright. The first night I was nearly frightened out of my life, but the man didn't seem to be anxious to do me any harm, and after a while I got used to it. Ever since then he has come every night at the same hour—2 o'clock."

"The last two nights he has taken to rocking my bed. Why, my bed rocked just like a cradle last night and the night before that." I said to him: "You don't need to rock me, I am awake; but the bed kept a rocking, and it rocked clean up till morning."

When her husband, a plump German, fond of his beer and sleep, was asked if he had ever seen the ghost, he said:

"Vy, do feller come right in my room mit ebry nacht. De first nacht he come and take hole my hand. I tink it was my wife, und I say, 'What for pinessh you haf coming into my room ober befor past 1 o'clock?' but my wife make no answer, und I rise up mit de bed und see do feller. 'Mein Gott!' I say, 'who de teufel was you?' but he make no answer, ober he groan, und he take my odder hand und hole it in his, which was like ice. I was not able to say a word, ober de first minute, but pime by I lay back und cry, 'Elizal Elizal what for dere po a ghost here,' had den do feller he groan again and get out mit der door."

The peculiar part of the story is, that the husband and wife occupied separate rooms, and when asleep the room door of Bostgen was locked and bolted, said he: "I was waked away mit a mere shudder. Dot woman brought me to Chicago," he said, in a paroxysm of anger, "by cheat. Ve was done a goot pinessh in Harrisburg, und she says, 'Come to Chicago, und we make more money!' I been here five years, und I see ghosts und dead beebles ever since I been in dat tain city. I go back to Broad street und Ridge road, in Harrisburg, und leef dot woman here."

Mrs. Bostgen described the apparition as being about five feet nine inches high, without beard or hat, and wearing very nice clothes; his face was as white as a sheet of your paper, and he had a sad expression in his eyes.

One night she tried to catch him, but "my hand," said she, "went clean through his breast, just where his heart ought to be, and I could see the fingers protruding on the other side of him. When I pulled my hand away the hole in his body still remained, and then everything was blank. You see, I never told anybody about this, because I feared to injure my business, and as it was good I didn't care to move away. I had a good many boarders, but all have left them except two. I think they must have been visited, because they never gave me any reason for leaving. I went to Mr. Becker on one occasion, and told him about a strange odor that I smelled in the house. I believe it came from the remains of somebody who had been murdered and put under the eaves, but he laughed at me, and told me if I wanted to I could take up the floors and hunt for it. But even stranger than this," Mrs. Bostgen said, conducting the reporter to her own room, "is this: Right in the center of my bed is a warm spot. That spot is always hot, while the other part of the bed is cool. Now," said she, turning the covers down, "put your hand there and see if the spot isn't hot." From the remarkable story Mrs. Bostgen had told, both husband and wife are fit subjects for a lunatic asylum. A significant fact to superstitious people is that Mrs. O'Brien, who occupied the house just before Mrs. Bostgen took it, dropped dead while cooking at her range, and another tenant, sister-in-law of Robert Hanish's, is now in the mad-house.

DICKINSON'S CENTENNIAL.

An Institution That Numbers Its Years With Those of the Government.

CARLISLE, PA., June 24.—Yesterday as a part of the programme of the Centennial commencement exercises of Dickinson College Bishop Bowman, an Alumnus of the institution, delivered a sermon before the Society of Religious Inquiry, and the President of the College preached a Baccalaureate. The other exercises of the week are in keeping with the important event, including on Wednesday the address before the Alumni by the Rev. George L. Crooks, LL. D., and a poem by General Horatio C. King.

The college was founded in 1783, and named in honor of John Dickinson, the President of the Executive Council of the State, who had taken a strong personal interest in the enterprise and donated largely from his purse toward the endowment of the institution. The college was originally organized under the auspices of the Presbyterians in the midst of a hasty Scotch-Irish settlement. Rev. Charles Nisbet, D. D., of Montrose, Scotland, was elected the first President. During his Presidency, a massive stone building was erected ed in 1802. It was destroyed by fire in 1804, and what is now known as West College took its place in 1805. Finally, in 1833, as an outcome of the discussions on church polity and mooted points of doctrine, the control of the college was transferred to the Baltimore, Philadelphia and New Jersey annual conferences of the Methodist Church. The Rev. John P. Durbin was the first President under the new regime, and the college has since gone on flourishing financially and otherwise.

AN OCEAN COLLISION.

Second Class and Steerage Passengers Drowned—The Signals of Distress Unheeded.

LONDON, June 24.—The passenger vessels Hurunui and Waitara, of the New Zealand Shipping Company, were in collision off Portland Friday night. The Waitara sank in two minutes, and twenty-five persons were drowned. The Hurunui immediately launched her boats and rescued sixteen persons struggling in the water. Among those was a lady saloon passenger to whom a sailor, also saved, had given his life belt. Two other saloon passengers were also saved.

All the second class and steerage passengers were lost. The captain of Waitara was dragged aboard the Hurunui with the aid of ropes. The two vessels left London together on Friday. The Hurunui struck the Waitara end on, just in front of the saloon, on the starboard side. The survivors state that no crash was heard, but the side of the Waitara gave way like a cardboard. More passengers might have been saved had the sailor and steamer seen near by heeded the Waitara's signals of distress. The Waitara was an iron ship of 833 tons built in 1863. The Hurunui is also an iron ship.

PANGBURN FOUND GUILTY.

A Trial Which Created a Sensation at Lockport, N. Y.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., June 24.—The trial of Charles Pangburn, indicted for criminal assault, which concluded by a verdict of guilty, has aroused great interest in this section from the peculiarity of the case. The prisoner, who has already served a term in the State Prison, is a married man. In February last young ladies prominent in society here were annoyed and terribly frightened on several occasions by a man who accosted them with insulting proposals after dark on quiet streets, and in two or three instances attempted to use force to compel compliance with his wishes, but the victims escaped. The city was thoroughly aroused, and the police at length captured Pangburn, who was identified and indicted, though it was exceedingly difficult to get ladies to testify at the trial. In giving evidence one young lady tattered dead away, and was reconstituted with difficulty.

Suicide of a Defaulter.

CLEVELAND, O., June 24.—The body of Charles Goodwin was found in the lake this morning near the breakwater. Goodwin had been missing since Wednesday last. He had held the position of cashier at the Union Freight Depot for fifteen years, and was a trusted employee. Large amounts of money passed through his hands, and an investigation of his accounts last night revealed the fact that he was a defaulter in the sum of $6,500. Goodwin was well connected, and lived on Prospect street. His wife is Leek, Doering & Co. He was thirty-two years of age. It is thought he made bad speculations, and sought death by his own hand rather than be disgraced.

NORTHERN PACIFIC GOLD SPIKE.

ST. PAUL, MINN., June 24.—Active preparations are being made for the driving of the last spike of the Northern Pacific, thus linking the Pacific with the Atlantic, and opening up to this section of the country another world. The spike will be of gold and has already been made, and is now in the possession of President Villard. It has engraved upon it an inscription suitable to the occasion. The place selected for its reception is about ten miles out from Helena, going in the direction of Portland.

A Vigilance Committee in Chicago.

CINCINNATI, June 24.—A most desperate gang of thieves, murderers, and toughs infest the vicinity of Chestnut street and Center avenue. The respectable ladies in the neighborhood are so much frightened that they dare not venture out after nightfall, and the men are thoroughly aroused. At a meeting last evening a permanent vigilance committee was formed with a view of protection and possibly clearing out the cut-throats.

A Brutal Butchery.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., June 25.—News has just been received here of the killing of Daniel Frank by Jim Barnett, about twelve miles above Eufaula, on the Canadian river. Daniel Frank was living with Barnett. Last Thursday night, some time after 12 o'clock, Barnett called Frank out of the house and shot him several times. When Frank fell Barnett finished his work by cutting his head open with an ax and scattered his brains on the ground. The cause is supposed to be relations between Barnett's wife and Frank. Both were full-blooded Creeks. No arrests.

Panzer Immigration.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The delegation of prominent Irish citizens from the several principal cities who waited upon the President in regard to the pauper immigration of their countrymen now coming to the United States were well pleased with the reception given them. They urged upon the President a strict enforcement of the laws relative to this class of immigrants, and were assured that the matter was being investigated.

FEMALE SAFE BLOWER

From Affluence and Respectability to Drink and Crime.

Mrs. Davis' Remarkable Career—Sister to a School Girl's Elopement With a Convict Who Represented Himself as a Rich Southerner.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 25.—The arrest of Mrs. Maria Davis at Derby, this State, on the charge of being implicated in several burglaries committed in Nantucket Valley recently, reveals a strange course from wealthy and highly-respected position in society to crime. She is also charged with aiding in burglarizing the Bristol Postoffice, a store in Essex, and the works of the Derby Lumber Company, the proceeds of these crimes aggregating many thousand dollars. All these burglaries showed that experts were at work, and all were remarkable for the daring of the robbers. A man named Davis was arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the Derby case. Letters and memoranda found upon him directed the attention of the police to his wife. The Sheriff and a Deputy went to her house, knocked, and Mrs. Davis appeared at the window. On being told that they were officers, she ordered them to leave, threatening to shoot them if they did not. The Deputy Sheriff attempted to force the door, but two quickly fired revolver shots, both of which came unpleasantly near, caused him to abandon the work. Assistance was summoned, and while Mrs. Davis was directing her attention to the men in front another party gained entrance at a rear window. As they ascended the stairs she heard them, and closed and locked the door, when an attempt was made to break it. She fired several shots through the panels, one of which wounded Constable James Geary in the leg. This seemed to exhaust her ammunition, and entrance being gained the woman was secured after a struggle, handcuffed and taken to jail. The night watchman of the Derby Lumber company is confident that she is the woman who assisted to bind and gag him, the voice being familiar. According to his story, she was apparently the leader of the gang. She was at the time dressed in men's clothing. The others appealed to her for orders, which she gave with the decision of a veteran commander. It was she who held the revolver to the watchman's head and threatened to blow his brains out if he uttered a word. Davis intimates that his wife has led him into crime, and that she has planned all the robberies in which he has taken part. As Davis is the recognized leader of the gang, Mrs. Davis is the actual head. Mrs. Davis is about 27 years of age and fairly good looking. She is a member of a wealthy Massachusetts family, and eloped from a boarding-school about eight years ago with Davis, who represented to her that he was a rich Southerner. As a matter of fact he had only been released a few months from prison, after serving out a term for larceny. Learning that the officers were after him for some newly-committed crime, he and his wife fled to the West, and for a time they were in Marietta, O., where Davis ran a sample-room, and later they went to Chicago, where they lived for several years. Davis, who was living under an assumed name, ran a billiard saloon. After leaving Chicago they wandered about the West and South, working the confidence game. Finally they turned up in Waterbury, Conn. Davis was then drinking heavily, but Mrs. Davis passed as a persecuted Christian, and was prominent in the class-meetings of the Methodist church. Finally she, too, took to drink, and gradually drifted into evil habits. She retained, however, her refined tastes, and it is supposed she indulged in burglary that she might accumulate money enough to move to some strange place and there live in aristocratic ease. In the room where she was arrested was a small book-case filled with well-selected books, which showed marks of frequent handling, and on a table an open copy of "Lucile" lay face downward, where had evidently placed it to take up her revolver. The proof against her is strong.

WHITE APACHE CHIEF.

An Adventurous American Deserves His Race for the Life of an Indian.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 24.—The white Apache recently wounded and captured has a brother in St. Louis. He says L. U. Streeter is the name of the Apache, and that he is forty-four years old and a full-blooded American. As a child he was wild and venturesome. One morning when he was about eleven years old, he started ostensibly to school, and was absent six months before it was learned that he had gone to sea. He followed the occupation of a sailor until 1857, with Sidney Johnston. In that year he accompanied Albert Sydney Johnston in his expedition against the Mormons. He joined the army in California and served with it one year, after which he went to Mexico and fought under the banner of Marez, leaving the service a Colonel. He then entered the service of the United States as interpreter at Fort Craig, where he soon gained great influence over the Indians. But the Indian King became hostile to him because he would speak his mind about their doings, and they finally procured his dismissal. They succeeded in having him declared an outlaw, and a price was placed on his head. This drove him beyond civilization and he has since been a big man among the Apaches.

EDITOR VS. EDITOR.

The Richmond Paste Throwers Fight a Duel—Editor Elam Killed.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—It is authoritatively reported that Editor Elam, of the Richmond Whig, was killed this morning by Editor Birne, of the Richmond State, in a duel fought near Richmond, Va.

WATER RAVAGES.

Caused by the Breaks in the Mississippi Dykes—Losses Over $200,000.

ST. LOUIS, June 24.—The river continued rising slowly all day yesterday. Wharf-boats have floated alongside the buildings on parts of the levee. Factories on the river front stopped Saturday, and thousands of workmen are unemployed. Damage to crops by the breaking of levees, it is now believed, will reach $200,000. Some 25,000 acres of farm land is inundated, and 100,000 bushels of wheat ready for harvest was destroyed. East Carondelet people have abandoned their houses, and are sheltering in churches and schoolhouses, and fifty families are without food. Many people in East St. Louis, Venice, Baden, Lowell, and Brooklyn have abandoned their inundated houses and are living in box cars, tents, or in the open air. Yesterday morning water flowed through the break in the dike on the Illinois side broke through the embankments of the Chicago & Alton, Indianapolis & St. Louis, and Wabash railroads, nine miles below. This cuts off the transportation on these roads. The flood, rushing through this new gap, spread over a large farming region. Many men are working on the St. Louis dikes and levees to protect the lumber yards. Millions of feet of lumber are in danger. Venice and Enterprise elevators and transfer stock-yards have been damaged $10,000. St. Louis & Cairo belt railroad damaged $50,000. Creve Coeur ice house, worth $10,000, destroyed.

A Role of the Polk Campaign.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Captain Isaiah Rynders has presented to the Democratic Board of Aldermen the large banner used by the Empire Club during the Polk campaign in 1844. It is of white silk, bears the portraits of Washington, Jefferson, and Polk, and the New York State arms; the inscriptions, "Enlarge the Boundaries of Freedom" and "Texas, Oregon." The red border of the banner is emblazoned with twenty-five gilt stars, representing the number of States comprising the Federal Union in 1844. Although the banner has not been used since the Democratic Convention at Charleston in 1860, the survivors of the club expect to take it to the next National Democratic Convention.

Archbishop's Funeral.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—The arrangements for the funeral of the late Archbishop Frederic Wood to-morrow, have been completed. A solemn high pontifical mass in requiem will be celebrated at 10 o'clock in the cathedral, the celebrant being Right Rev. Bishop O'Hara, of Scranton, the senior Bishop of the province. The sermon will be delivered by Archibishop Gibbons, of Baltimore. The remains will be interred in the crypt at the foot of the main altar in the cathedral. The service will be grand and impressive, and a great number of Catholic dignitaries will be in attendance. Archibishop Corrigan will represent Cardinal McClosky.

Silk Culture.

NEW ORLEANS, June 24.—Mrs. E. B. Johnson, Superintendent of the Silk Industrial Association, has placed on exhibition at the Cotton Exchange two samples of reeled silk made from cocoons raised by the Association. Both are of a very fine quality, and the thread even and round. That of the latter sample contains six cocoons throughout its entire length. An Italian silk manufacturer, who was in the city a few days since, saw the samples, and pronounced them equal to any Italian silk he had ever seen.

A Degraded Lieutenant.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Carrie Gardner, a domestic, twenty years old, pleaded guilty in Justice Bergen's Court in Brooklyn, to grand larceny in having stolen clothing and jewelry. She is an English girl, was made a Lieutenant of the Salvation Army in her native country and was detailed to come here and attack Satan in his strong-hold.

Match Monopoly.

PITTSBURG, June 24.—Pittsburgh and other Western dealers have been forced to sign agreements to sell goods of the Diamond Match Company and no others. In return they get a price of five per cent. Some of the local merchants are fighting the monopoly, because they have had to buy this year without knowing prices, as the big monopoly refuses to make known its rates under the repeal of the match tax. It is said that there are no troubles further east than this city.

Mrs. King William Will Not Object.

LONDON, June 25.—The Queen's condition is greatly improved. She was able to walk from the train to the carriage on her arrival at Windsor from Balmoral. The Queen has invited the painter, Angel, to England to take a life-sized portrait, which she will present to Emperor William on the twenty-fifth anniversary of his assumption of the regency of Prussia.

Panzer Immigrants to Be Sent Back.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Of the 570 immigrants who arrived on the Furnessia yesterday, 300 were found to be of the assisted class from Ireland. Some of them did not have money enough to buy a postage stamp. The Commissioners of Emigration will meet this morning, and take steps for sending some of them back under the law which forbids the landing of paupers.

No Country Wants Him.

DUBLIN, June 25.—Carey, who is still confined in Kilmainham Jail for his own protection, has, for the first time, offered to go to some foreign land, but scarcely expresses a preference and seems to be willing to go wherever the Government may think it advisable to send him.

The Salvation Army Throttled in a Swiss Canton.

NEUCHATEL, June 25.—The Council of State of Neuchatel has forbidden the Salvation Army to hold meetings of any kind. It holds that the army is not a religious association, but a corporation very much like that of the Jesuits, for it is headed by a General having unlimited military authority. As a corporation, it can not settle in the canton of Neuchatel, save by obtaining permission from the Great Council, and that permission will certainly be refused. Nevertheless, the Salvation Army has a few disciples at Neuchatel, the most of whom are Swiss citizens. They will probably go on like the Genevese Salvationists. In Geneva they have three places of worship. English Salvationists are heard in their meetings, but they do not preside over the assembly for fear of attracting too much notice. The police overlooks these proceedings. It will probably be different in Neuchatel. But should foreign Salvationists be forbidden to speak in private meetings, General Booth might send over preachers not belonging to his army, though acting in the same spirit and using the same methods. Thus the law could be evaded and the Government of Neuchatel taunted, as it well deserves to be. The Salvationists in Geneva have neither processions, nor music, nor anything that would create any disturbance in the streets. It would have been easy to maintain our religious liberty, but political considerations intervened. Any one ambitious of popularity must shout with the mob: "Down with the Salvationists! Away with religions coming from abroad!"

But such a state of things can not last much longer. Marechal Booth and Col. Clibborn are, for the present, seeking liberty in France, at Valence and at Nismes, where they hold meetings.

Texas Steers Stampede.

CHICAGO, June 24.—A terrible stampede of Texas steers occurred in the southwestern part of the city. One hundred and ten head of these untamed cattle, belonging to Libby, McNeil & Libby, broke from the driving corral and dashed wildly in all directions. The start was made on Halsted street, near 40th. The streets were filled with people, many of whom were transfixed with terror. Sixty cattle charged up Wentworth avenue, clearing it of everything living or movable. Mrs. Mary Mulholland, living at 420 Rebecca street, was trampled to death. Maggie Carney, a child of eight

The barbed wire fence monopoly has been wiped out, the United States Circuit Court of Missouri having decided that the present manufacturers have not the exclusive right to make it. This is good news for the farmer.

SENATOR COQUITT, of Georgia, is exuberantly generous to "the literary fellers" down South. Recently he presented a home and farm to a Southern poet and now he has presented a thousand dollar span of horses to Editor Grady, of the Atlanta Constitution.

THESE are an encouraging crop prospect through Southern Indiana. The barley harvest is progressing and some fields of wheat will be cut in a week. The yield of wheat will be above the average, and the barley is twenty per cent. better than was supposed. The corn fields are clean, and promise well.

The Pension List, to be published by order of Congress, will make a work of 4,500 pages. It will contain a list of the pensioners, their post office address, the amount allowed in each case and the reason why. A list of each county will be furnished to the papers of that county and published by them.

The following in defense of the English sparrow is from the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph: An esteemed contemporary, in its zeal to make out a case against the English sparrow, overreaches itself and shows the falsity of the charge that the bird has become the terror of the farmers throughout the State. It is ascertained, and reluctantly confessed, that the alleged destroyer of crops is practically unknown thirty or forty miles from this city, and within that radius some sensible farmers actually feed the birds in winter. A lot of very silly stuff, purporting to be the indignant expression of agriculturists, is published, but one indiscreet "sniffer" explains a great mystery. It has been charged that the sparrows "ravage the wheat fields." How this is possible is a problem intelligent observers have failed to solve. The sparrow cannot reach the lousy kernel from the ground; the slender stalk can not bear his weight and he cannot pick out the grain on the wing. When it is cut and put in stacks he can only pick around the outside. This agriculturalist Jeremiah, however, says it is when the wheat "breaks down" that the marauder gets his work in. And how much of the crop "breaks down"? A very little, indeed. The statement is simply another proof that the enemies of the sparrow indulge more in imagination than fact in their senseless warfare.

Hudson River Tunnel.
NEW YORK, June 24.—Work has begun on the south tunnel under the Hudson river, at the New York entrance, at the foot of Morton street. It is expected that sections of ten feet will be completed every twenty days. The present condition of the north tunnel is as follows:—From the Jersey side 1,600 feet have been completed and 170 feet from the New York side. The total length is 5,500 feet. Communication will be had between the two tunnels by means of connecting chambers at intervals of 250 feet the entire length. About one hundred men are now working, and an additional force of six hundred will be added as soon as the necessary funds are forthcoming.

Disgusted With Alaska.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—A gentleman who went to Alaska recently returns with no favorable opinion of that section of the United States. He says the steamship company made a great deal of noise about the country, but there is nothing to induce a man to stay there. Traders use leather checks for money. People go there on every ship by the hundreds, and a majority of them have no money to get away on. There is no chance there to work. A man can not walk one mile on account of the underbrush and moss being so thick. The only way a man can get around is in a canoe. There is no gravel around, and the mud does not amount to much.

The Accused Jews.

LONDON, June 24.—In the trial yesterday at Nyregyhaza, Hungary, of the Jews accused of having murdered a Christian girl and used her blood to mix with their Passover bread, witnesses for the prosecution contradicted each other, and also their own former statements. The Times correspondent believes the boy, Moritz Schatz, the principal witness for the prosecution, is a maniac.

Mid-Ocean Telegraphy.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Mid-ocean telegraph stations have been proposed, and will probably be carried out some day. Prof. E. A. Dolbear has proposed a plan which may make fixed communication which has been the problem unnecessary. A large metal plate attached to an insulated conductor is lowered from the ship to the bottom on the track of the cable, and another plate is merely submerged. Between these two plates a battery and Morse key is inserted. On working the key the Morse currents induce other currents in the cable, which can be heard in telephones attached to the cable on shore.

Death of a Well-Known Cinematographer.

ANDOVER, MASS., June 25.—A. R. Hinkle, aged 65, the well-known retired merchant of Cincinnati, died suddenly at this place to-day of heart disease. He left Cincinnati last Friday on a business and pleasure trip to the east. He was in excellent health when he left, remarking to a friend, just before boarding the train, that he never felt better in his life.

Compensation to Cincinnati Railroad Trustees.

CINCINNATI, June 25.—In the matter of the compensation of the Southern railroad trustees Judge Force, this morning, delivered the opinion of the Superior Court. The following sums were allowed the trustees: E. H. Ferguson, $7,500; Miles Greenwood, $1,250; Henry Meek, $4,375; Henry Schiff, $3,000; R. M. Bishop, $6,700.

Slaughtering Snakes.

REDDING, CAL., June 24.—The laborers on the railroad extension north of Redding are slaughering snakes by the hundred. Every blast of powder sends into the air a writhing mass of serpents, and the noise made by the rattlesnakes is fearful. One man picked up 200 dead rattlesnakes last Sunday and saved the rattle.

A Night Watchman Burned.

SPENCERTON, WIS., June 24.—The large slate factory owned by McMillan Bros., at Mannville, was destroyed by fire on Saturday, and yesterday, the night watchman was burned. The loss is $5,000.

Vice at Long Branch.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—A new attraction at Long Branch this year is a glittering gambling-hell, at which games are conducted as openly as at Monaco and other continental gaming establishments, and where ladies are to be admitted to the play. The proprietor says that it is only a question of time when ladies will frequent the room and be seen at the faro-table.

Small Farms Pay Best.

The Governor of Florida reports that the tendency of the agriculturists, of that State is toward small farms. The richest New York farmers are those who have grown berries and added every year an acre or two to their pear orchards and the most profitable farms of all are those within a few miles of this city, and whose managers bank considerable money yearly from the sale of vegetables grown on a few acres that are hired at $300 per acre per annum. One man who bought an up-river farm of twenty-three acres, twenty years ago, has for years averaged $7,000 yearly on the yield of pear trees that he planted himself. But the American farmer generally seems to imagine that humanity needs only wheat, corn and pork, so he attempts to raise these on a large scale, while the vegetables and fruits on his own table are purchased at high prices in city markets. The farmer should eat something besides meat and bread.—N. Y. Herald.

To Buyers of Clothing.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 26, 1883.

We want to say to Colonel Fred, While he is on his rounds, He ought to make arrangements to explore the Court street mounds. And he will by this enterprise Leave Gelsel far behind, Because, you see, he will a ton Of legal reliefs find.

Notice to Subscribers.

The delivery of the DAILY BULLETIN, in Maysville, beginning July 1st, will be entrusted to Mr. William Austin, who will see that its patrons are promptly served with the paper. The subscription price will be considered due each week and will be collected by him every Monday afternoon.

MR. JOHN E. BLAINE's brick house, on Second street, was offered at public sale on Monday and withdrawn at $3,100.

THE tobacco acreage in Brown county, Ohio, is one-fourth larger than last year. The plants are abundant and look well.

THE Pittsburg glass factories will close next Saturday for two months. They give employment to about fifteen hundred men.

MR. CHARLES WALZ has been appointed agent for the Cincinnati News in this city, and will deliver it promptly to all subscribers.

A PISTOL shot on Market street last night about 9 o'clock caused considerable excitement. Officers were soon on hand, but could find no "shootist."

MESSRS. W. B. MATHEWS & CO. received a few days ago a fleet of sixteen rafts of oak and poplar logs. They propose to keep well-supplied with material this season.

WILLIAM WILLIAMS, a farmer living near Clayton, Adams county, Ohio, was beaten and robbed at Ripley, on Saturday. He was found in an unconscious condition in an out of the way alley.

THE ladies of the Episcopal Church are requested to meet with the vestry in the Chapel, on Thursday afternoon, at four o'clock, to consider the affairs of the church. A full attendance is requested.

MRS. NANNIE LEVI, who lives on Cabin Creek, a few days ago, attempted suicide by taking pounded glass mixed with poke-root. She drank the compound but was saved by the timely aid of a physician.

I OFFER for sale my book and stationery business, stock fixtures and all complete. This is a rapidly increasing and profitable business and is a rare chance for any one. For terms and reasons for selling apply to FRANK R. PHISTER.

THE finest private collections of mound and Indian relics probably in the West, are owned by Col. F. H. Bierbower and Mr. G. W. Geisel, of this city. Both gentlemen have lately added to their respective collections many rare and curious articles.

DEPUTY SHERIFF DAN. PERRINE went to Frankfort, on Monday, to procure from the Governor a requisition for Samuel Bulger, who committed the outrage near this place last week and who is now in jail at Georgetown, O. He is expected home to-day.

THE Southern Presbyterian congregation will have services at the Washington Opera Hall next Sunday morning and evening. Until further notice the congregation will use the Opera Hall every alternate Sunday, Rev. S. H. Chester pastor. All are invited.

THE somewhat celebrated case of Evans against Berry has been decided by the Lewis Circuit Court in favor of the plaintiff, who gets a judgment for $10,000 damages. Hon. W. H. Wadsworth and Judge E. Whitaker, of this city, appeared for the defense. The verdict is a surprise to many but it is generally approved by the people of the neighborhood.

THE members of the Southern Presbyterian Church have bought from Mr. B. A. Wallingford, a lot on Third street adjoining his residence, on which a house of worship will soon be built. About one-half of the money that will be needed has already been subscribed by the congregation. The lot fronts sixty feet on the street and extends back eighty feet.

THEIR is a prospect, that with the right kind of action by the city of Maysville, it will be possible to secure the location, at this place, of the machine shops of the Kentucky Central Railway. As it will bring to the city about five hundred workingmen and will secure the expenditure here of a considerable sum of money each week, it would be well for some of our men of enterprise to investigate the matter.

PERSONALS.

Mr. S. Salomon arrived from Louisville last night.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Robinson, of Kansas City, are visiting friends in the city.

Ma. James Adamson, of Mt. Sterling, is in Maysville on a short visit to his friends.

Miss Emma Hancke left on the Morning Mail, Monday, on a visit to relatives in Ohio.

Miss Maggie L. Conway, of Mt. Sterling, Ky., is visiting the family of Mr. John Shea, of this city.

Mrs. Bell Seaman, of Covington, and Mrs. Emma Blanton, of Lewis county, are attending the bedside of their father.

Mrs. F. S. Leggett, of Pittsburgh, and Miss Mamie Biddleman, of St. Louis, are the guests of the family of Mr. John Lovel.

A DESPATCH from Ripley, dated the 24th inst., says: A search of the cell, this morning, in which the Maysville rapist, Sam. Bulger, was confined, disclosed a box of forty-two caliber cartridges hidden under the floor. They belonged to an English bulldog five-shot revolver, which was taken from him when arrested. Around the box was tied a narrow band of black ribbon, to better secure its contents, and from appearances the ribbon had been a bow to ornament some part of a lady's dress. The white man that assisted Bulger to escape from jail was described by him, when re-captured, as a heavy set man with black mustache, wearing a stiff hat and dark jeans pants. He has not yet been apprehended, but officers are on the lookout for him.

To the Public.

Relatives and friends of those Union soldiers buried in the Maysville cemetery whose graves are unmarked, or without headstones, are asked to furnish to the undersigned the name of such soldiers as well as the name of the company and regiment to which each one belonged, as it is the design to furnish stones to all those soldiers whose graves have none.

G. N. CRAWFORD,
T. M. LUMAN,
G. M. CLINGER.

THE Covington and Maysville District Conference recently met at Augusta, Ky. Rev. G. D. Watson, of Newport, preached on "The Scripture Emblems of the Holy Ghost," and Rev. Bidwell Lane, of Covington, made an address on "Education of Ministers." Four young men were licensed to preach. An adjourned session to consider recommendations for admission to Conference will be held at Grace Church, Newport, September 8th.

MESSRS. LANE & WORRICK are putting up a neat frame dwelling on Sixth street for Mr. Isaac Watkins.

ABERDEEN ITEMS.

Mrs. Robert Brookover, we regret to an- nounce, is still quite sick.

The BULLETIN carrier is a most faithful and prompt deliver of the papers.

Everybody says that the Second street wedding is drawing nigh. Suchulent devotion ought to win the prize.

Report says a Maysville hardware gentleman in his disposition very attractive. She is lovely in disposition as she is rich in personal charms.

The Fourth or July picnic is anticipated as being a large affair. If it don't rain, and if the people don't all go to Maysville to have a picnic on the street cars, if they don't stay home to keep cool.

Saturday evening there was a good many of the suburban belles with their beau's taking an airing. Their fleet horses dashed through our little town in a twinkling, and swiftly flew off the place.

It is surprising what self-conceit some of the town girls have when some of their pretty country friends visit them. The town girl will dodge in front of her country friend when she sees her gentlemen friends coming forward, and leave her country friend behind.

We had the pleasure lately of gazing upon some of their luxuriant and varied hues and choicer species at "Rose's." Lovers of rare roses could not fail to have their aesthetic taste gratified at this charming place. Truly it is "love among the roses."

Of all the contemptible things it is the endeavoring some people have, seeking information by pumping children. It is a dangerous practice, but to save their fingers from getting burnt they push the children into the flames. They never lack for witnesses to the marriage ceremony.

We know it is warm, at least the papers all say so, and we are convinced of it by every person we meet. It seemed to be the only subject of conversation—"Aint it hot?" This continually being reminded of the weather is enough to make one feverish. Do talk about something that is cooling—the last polar wave, for instance.

He resembled the dude as to his exquisite attire, and as to his manners he flaunted himself about the room, as if he were the president of the matrimonial line. It is not unusual for a man to cry out, "Hush, hush, wedding!" two or three times in a day, and certainly shows a good deal of pluck to the mob that pursue the bride. They never lack for witnesses to the marriage ceremony.

We know it is warm, at least the papers all say so, and we are convinced of it by every person we meet. It seemed to be the only subject of conversation—"Aint it hot?"

This continually being reminded of the weather is enough to make one feverish. Do talk about something that is cooling—the last polar wave, for instance.

The bees in this locality have become somewhat obtrusive. Squire Beasley can only keep his from taking flight by indulging them occasionally with a serenade performed on the melodious instruments of the tin cans and pane of every description, which causes the poor little bees to keep over with consternation. Certes—music hath charms under all phases.

Friday night we were gently awakened from our Morphous slumbers at the mystical hour of midnight, by a deep, resonant bass voice, which had a weird effect, heard in the stillness of the night. It was the novel way of announcing a wedding party, the bell was rung with a vim, unaccompanied by "Hello! Squire!" here a wedding couple from Bracken county, Ky. Run up, never mind getting copper open the door, the door will close enough." They were a most impatient couple. Some one warned them to keep quiet, as they might be reported in the DAILY BULLETIN. We hope their merriment will continue through life.

COUNTY POINTS.

MURKINSVILLE.

Miss Kate Latham is at Maysville visiting Mr. George Wood is over his material attack.

Quite a number went to Flemingsburg Monday, it being Court day at that place.

Hon. Will Thompson, of Dover, went home Monday, after enjoying a very pleasant visit with relatives here.

Wheat, corn and tobacco are claiming the attention of the farmers, and keeping them in "sweat." They say help is scarce.

The moonlight fete and palm-leaf fair, at Slipper, Thursday night, was declared a success by the Murphittes that were present.

Mr. Otto Mullin, of Indiana, who spent the greater part of last winter with relatives here, was with us last week. He is now upending the metallic alphabet in the BULLETIN office.

There are people in this vicinity that want to see a cyclone so bad they are afraid one will pass over in the night while they are asleep.

With the advent of green apples, things are fuller than they seem.

Mrs. S. D. Clark and Prot. Frost have a number of mule pupils in our school.

Perkins, R. H. H., having concluded his course at Riverdale Academy at Covington, returned here and is traveling from town to bookstores.

Can "Romance" Inform us what has been done to Sanchez Panzer? Has he emigrated westward and lost himself in the desert, or is he still in the same place?

We attended County Court at Flemingsburg Monday, and found the town joined with the county in making the juries and were finding themselves very busy in the same manner. Some one stock on the market in a manner of stock for Eastern market.

There is a law prohibiting the sale of stock along the public highway or "sidewalk," excepting where it is absolutely necessary.

The practice, besides not being in itself to the public, exhibits an utter disregard for the Sabbath by the guilty: atches themselves and we hope they will take notice.

We attended the Baptist and Christian Union on a pile, held in the beautiful grove of Dr. H. L. Parry, near Maysville Wednesday, and found quite a crowd assembled and all enjoy themselves.

Wm. Calvert has painted and otherwise improved his residence and premises, making it one of the most desirable in town.
